first time the deadly American lightning fighters were seen over Japan proper.

Simultaneously with the Osaka raid, squadrons of Thunderbolts, Lightning, Mustang and Hellcat fighters made a two-hour leaflet raid on the Kagoshima area of Kyushu in southern Japan. The planes warned the Japanese civilians that the aerial bombardment of their homeland would be stepped up with increasing intensity with the conquest of Okinawa.

The new raid marked the third stage of the 21st Bomber Command's methodical destruction of Osaka, pre-war Japan's second largest city and greatest production center, with a population of 1,233,340.

DEVASTATED AREA

The attack bombed the total devastated area of Japan's main industrial cities to well over the 90 square mile mark, and it left Osaka a blackened and ruined pile of rubble.

Japanese radio, admitting the devastation, said that the city's residents were reduced to homeless by the raid, and that the factories in Osaka were almost completely destroyed, would be useless to agricultural and industrial production, and help boost food production.

The same policy would be pursued in other areas, the Japanese government said, and the Japanese commentators were gloomy, as they admitted that the city was the industrial center of the country.

The previous raids on Osaka wiped out eleven and one-half square miles of the city's industrial center, and today's raid added considerably to the destruction.

The bombing destroyed the city's main steel mill, the Osaka Steel Works, and laid their heavy industrial plant in the city's main factory belt south of the Yodo river. The incendiaries were plentifully dropped, and the results were terrifying in the most thickly populated area of the city.

Planes and smoke are still billowing high in the air, and columns of frantic civilians are fleeing the city in all directions.

Desert Warfare Rages Between Syrian Tribes

ists, the French camouflaged desert patrol, prevented native guerrillas from keeping pace.

The Syrians also leveled another accusation at the French by charging the theft of official seals and stationery from the Syrian consulate in Damascus. Syrian diplomats said they feared the French might be trying to cook up some plot against them, such as presenting alleged proof that there had been a Syrian plot to massacre the French in the Levant.

CRUISER ARRIVES

Another British cruiser, HMS Aurora, arrived in Beirut yesterday afternoon to strengthen the British forces now keeping order in the Levant.

At Cairo, the Arab League issued a communique after a meeting last night saying that some decisions had been taken on the Levant situation, but did not reveal what they were. The league was to meet again today.

LONDON, June 7.—(AP)—

A foreign office spokesman announced today that a French note on the Levant crisis was received by the British government last night.

He said the note, setting forth French views as to the next step to be taken in the crisis, was now under consideration.

He declined comment on a Paris report that the French had proposed a five-point conference among Britain, France, Russia, the United States and China in place of the League of Nations.

The Syrian government revealed that it had asked the British House of Commons and the U.S. Senate, and the parliament and other Arab states to send commissions to investigate the situation in the Levant.

The government decided to order the arrest of all Syrian officials under French who took part in the recent fighting.

"I've never wondered what I'd do if I had the boss income, but I've often wondered what I'd do if I had the boss mind."

OSAKA, JAPAN, is the site of the new air strike. The city is the second largest in Japan and a major industrial center.

Little Hope Seen Of Soviet Change On Veto Question

By C. R. BLACKBURN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—(CP)—Russia sanctioned a meeting of the Big Five last night, giving rise to hopes some break might be imminent in the deadlock over veto powers, but Soviet spokesmen indicated there would be no weakening of the Russian stand on this question.

Official in a position to know said that Russia considers the veto agreement gives any of the Big Five the right to veto even discussion of an international dispute in a world security council, and despite the other big powers, is standing on this interpretation.

Former Captives Arrive in Canada

By SYD THOMAS

HALIFAX, June 7.—(CP)—Eager for every bit of information they could get about Canada and things at home, 1,000 liberated prisoners of war from different RCAF groups and more than 100 liberated British personnel returned to Canada today.

Some of the airmen had been in prison camps four or more years and had almost forgotten what Canada looked like. They hurriedly drank in every sight of the Canadian shore as the former French luxury liner moved through the mist about the coast.

Some 3,000 Canadian and British personnel, some in uniform, were met at the airport by their families and friends. There were about 1,000 RCAF personnel, of whom 1,000 were in uniform, and the rest back on leave or new duty.

forces have ample bases from which they can mount a new offensive against either China or the Japanese home islands.

GENERAL'S LITTEY

Just what the next Allied blow will fall is what is troubling the Japanese. General Littey, the general staff appears to be taking no chances and to be laying their money on the side of the Allies.

Over the Tokyo radio they talk of an imminent invasion of the Japanese mainland and of fantastic underground defenses to meet the invaders.

At the same time they appear to be shifting part of their forces to the south coast of Japan, apparently getting braced for a showdown in the north.

However, they are still compelled to keep sizable forces at Hong Kong and Swatow, as well as at Haiphong in French Indo-China.

And, as they try to read the minds of the attackers they are being subjected to a steady bombardment of their war potential by bombing.

AIR BLOWS PROGRESS

At the present time, experts estimate that the Japanese against Japan is about as far along as the Allies against Germany was in February 1944, just before the Luftwaffe was effectively paralyzed.

Japan's war potential is considerably more vulnerable than Germany was at the same stage, and reduction of Japan's war potential can be achieved in relatively shorter time.

So far Japan has not received saturation bombing of the kind that has been meted out to Europe, but with the loss of the island of Iwo Jima, such saturation bombing will not be long delayed.

And now the Japanese are steadily growing land offensives by the rebuilt Chinese army and the Japanese army in China.

Chinese authorities today announced the capture of the Pingliang railway station, and the capture of the Pingliang railway station, and the capture of the Pingliang railway station.

Seversky Reveals Germans Had Jet-Plane Ready to Attack States

PARIS, June 7.—(AP)—

Alexander D. Seversky, noted airplane designer, told a press conference today that when victory came in Europe, he had a four-engine jet airplane ready to attack the United States.

The plane designer said he had interviewed Reichsmarschall Goering, who told him a German Messerschmitt 262 would have been ready to attack the United States in 1944.

Seversky said he had the Allies found at least one experimental model of such a plane in Germany.

Churchill Says No Secret Pacts Made at Yalta

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON, June 7.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said Commons today the Big Three made no secret agreements at Yalta, but indicated the discussions covered a wider field than the decision officially announced.

Laborites asked specifically why differences had arisen since the broadening of the Polish government formed in London, but Mr. Churchill said that was a matter for the future.

There were no secret engagements entered into at Yalta, except the agreement to give Russia three votes at San Francisco, Churchill said.

Class Struggle On Until Victory Won Says Sask. Premier

VANCOUVER, June 7.—(CP)—

Premier T. C. Douglas told a CCP rally in a Vancouver hotel last night that "as far as the CCP is concerned there can be no stop of the class struggle until we have crushed the big bourgeoisie common wealth controlled by the common people for the benefit of the common people."

He said everything the liberals now propose is a class struggle, and that the class struggle will continue until the big bourgeoisie common wealth controlled by the common people for the benefit of the common people.

Canada could have a national income of $30,000,000,000 a year, and an average family income of $3,000 a year, if the people working to make consumer goods instead of munitions, Mr. Douglas said.

Drew Charges Untrained Men Sent Hong Kong

WINNIPEG, June 7.—(CP)—

Premier George Drew of Ontario told a public meeting here last night that Prime Minister Mackenzie King allowed untrained men to sail for Hong Kong in 1941 despite a warning a week earlier "from the British government" that with Japan might be expected at any time.

There never was a "more brutal" calumnious treatment of men "than the way the Liberal administration dealt with those two regiments," Premier Drew said.

Referring to reports he was involved in three libel suits, Premier Drew said that all he has greater need of libel actions against him is what he has read in the newspapers and that he has not been served with any writ.

WILL PRESS SUIT
He added that his libel suit against the Toronto Daily Star was "pressed" to the limit, and the only reason for his action is a public duty "to end the destructive and villainous lies of that newspaper which are disturbing public life in Ontario."

Premier Drew said that Hon. Ian MacKenzie, minister of veterans' affairs, had challenged him to come to Vancouver and explain his "association with Duplessis and Houde and the anti-war faction in Quebec." He referred to Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec and Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal.

Mr. Drew added that "Ian MacKenzie... is a deliberate and comfortable liar."
The Ontario premier asserted he had "never laid eyes on Duplessis and Houde and the anti-war faction in Quebec. I'll let my record stand on that."

Motors first came into use about 1864.

MONTY GETS HIGHEST FRENCH HONOR—Highest French honor, the grand cordon of the Legion of Honor, is conferred on Field Marshal Montgomery here by Gen. de Gaulle, who now charges Britain with stirring up the Levant Arabs against the French forces.

speaker was Adolphe Godbout, provincial leader, who attacked the government's subscription policy last December.

Mr. King spoke briefly in French and said he hoped Quebec province would speak with the same authority and vigor as in the last general election.

"I hope this province will give the strongest possible support to the Liberal candidates in all constituencies in which they are running," said Mr. King.

"There never was a time in the history of our country when there was a greater need for men of Liberal training and Liberal traditions to be in the next parliament. It is the next parliament that the future well-being or undoing of Canada will be brought about."

Differences of opinion in the last parliament gave him a sense of pride in the men I have around me," said Mr. King, referring to Mr. Power. He was glad that men look the course they thought right. He never tried to change men's consciences. Mr. Power and others were doing what they thought right now in standing for Liberal principles and the leader they trusted as he did what they thought in parliament.

When he led Canada into the war, the prime minister said, he made a resolution that above all things he would support and aid the men who offered their lives on the battlefield for the freedom of Canada.

DIFFERENCES AROSE
It was inevitable that differences of opinion should arise in wartime. Three times while his colleagues had to weigh carefully which course of action would be the best.

"My first duty was to see that the men at the front were not left without even the impression the country was not behind them," he said, referring to his decision to extend conscription to overseas service.

"Whether the decision I took was right or wrong can be answered in two ways. If in the first place the great victory that has now been won by the United Nations over Germany, it can be answered in a second way by the gentlemen who are on this platform tonight. All of us have spoken our minds freely but have kept our minds free to the decision that make for the welfare of Canada."

Clarify Regulation Time Off to Vote
OTTAWA, June 7.—(CP)—James Cawagawa, chief electoral officer, announced yesterday that the justice department had advised that while any elector is allowed two hours of work other than his own hour to vote in the Dominion election Monday, he is not entitled to time off if he regularly has two hours away from work during the time the polls are open—between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. local time.

The Election Act provides that an employer must "allow every elector in his employ at least two additional hours other than the noon hour for voting" and shall not make deductions from the elector's wages for such absence from work.

The ruling was requested of the justice department. It was learned, because in previous elections a number of disputes arose particularly by electors working on night shifts. They thought they should have two hours of work the same as workers on the day shift.

Quebec Workers In Demonstration At King Meeting

QUEBEC, June 7.—(CP)—A group of more than 100 men, the majority employees of Morton Engineering and Dry Dock Limited, staged a "sit down strike" Tuesday, paraded last night to the meeting addressed by Prime Minister King, with placards which read: "We want work in our shipyards in Quebec." The marchers were quiet and orderly.

Alphonse Lachet, local president of the Canadian Shipbuilders Union (C.S.U.), said that the strike was a firm belief in provincial autonomy and that "we are protesting the fact that there is less and less work in Quebec shipyards, while in other parts of the country there is an over-supply of contracts."

Labor-Progressives Will Alter Policy, Caldwell Predicts

WINNIPEG, June 7.—(CP)—M. J. Caldwell, national leader of the CCF party, said in an interview here yesterday in a short time the Labor-Progressive party will be throwing overboard their current policy of co-operation with "capitalist society and going back to the straight revolutionary tactics they have espoused in the past." He said he based his belief on recent utterances of Earl Browder, leader of the United States Communist and other statements showing disaffection with the present party lines.

Mr. Caldwell said he was not sure whether the government would recover before the war in shipping scrap iron, copper and aluminum to the Japanese war lords.

He also condemned Canada's adherence to the administration of the "Fascist dictatorship of Argentina to the San Francisco conference of peace-making nations."

Argentina's jails, he said, are filled with 14,000 persons whose only crime has been their belief in democracy.

HOUSE PRICE CEILING
A request was made to the Dominion government, in another resolution, to "immediately place a price ceiling on all buildings and land." It was passed "Returned servicemen and dependents of servicemen have been victimized by having to pay excessive prices for houses," it said.

HARM IS OFFSET
"Happily for the world, much of the harm that has been done by inconsistent politicians over the last 25 years has been offset by the gallantry of French-speaking Canadians. We know that they have shared with other Canadians the highest honors of the war."

Mr. Bracken said his party wanted to see a re-constituted Canada, where the national unity has been broken by the galling of French-speaking Canadians. He wanted to see the nine provinces continue to discharge their constitutional functions and he wanted to see that they were financially equipped to do so. Some of them now were not so equipped.

Denies Government Skeleton in Closet Is Being Concealed

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., June 7.—(CP)—Hon. Norman A. McArthur, former secretary of state, in an address last night said, "Mr. Bracken has said that the government had tried to get away from its past record in conducting the present election. As far as I know we have never tried to do such a thing."

"I have been a member of the government since before the war," Mr. McArthur said, "and as far as I know we have never had a 'skeleton in the closet' which we wished to hide."

Wholesale Shake-Up In Japan Ministry
SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—(AP)—A wholesale shakeup in the Japanese ministry involving 67 persons was reported by Tokyo yesterday, amid expressed fears that the "moment of decision on our soil is rapidly approaching."

The shakeup followed an attack against the efficiency of the munitions ministry Tuesday by the influential Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Shimbun, which frankly admitted that munitions production had not come up to expectations since late last year.

Mr. King spoke briefly in French and said he hoped Quebec province would speak with the same authority and vigor as in the last general election.

"I hope this province will give the strongest possible support to the Liberal candidates in all constituencies in which they are running," said Mr. King.

"There never was a time in the history of our country when there was a greater need for men of Liberal training and Liberal traditions to be in the next parliament. It is the next parliament that the future well-being or undoing of Canada will be brought about."

Differences of opinion in the last parliament gave him a sense of pride in the men I have around me," said Mr. King, referring to Mr. Power. He was glad that men look the course they thought right. He never tried to change men's consciences. Mr. Power and others were doing what they thought right now in standing for Liberal principles and the leader they trusted as he did what they thought in parliament.

When he led Canada into the war, the prime minister said, he made a resolution that above all things he would support and aid the men who offered their lives on the battlefield for the freedom of Canada.

DIFFERENCES AROSE
It was inevitable that differences of opinion should arise in wartime. Three times while his colleagues had to weigh carefully which course of action would be the best.

"My first duty was to see that the men at the front were not left without even the impression the country was not behind them," he said, referring to his decision to extend conscription to overseas service.

Russia Demands Allies Move Out Occupation Zone

Soviet delegate to the Allied Control Council, first expressed the demand—also indirectly that Britain and the United States pull their forces out of the Soviet occupation zone.

He told Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny at Berlin Tuesday that he could do nothing further toward establishment of the central Council until the western Allies had withdrawn from the Russian zone.

British commentators showed surprise and resentment at Russia's demand and at her unilateral disclosure that the Red army will occupy half of Germany.

SOME DISAPPOINTMENT
Newspapers at the Times and the Laborite Daily Herald expressed disappointment that Moscow had seen fit to disclose the occupation zone boundaries and demand that the United States quit the area assigned Russia.

The Moscow dispatches yesterday detailed the demarcation line between the area to be occupied by the Red army and by the Western Allies.

The diplomatic correspondent of the Times said it was felt in London that the announcement should have been a joint one issued perhaps by the Allied control council.

"Nothing is to be gained by such independent action," the Times said. "The reason for the Russian precipitancy is not given."

Clarify Regulation Time Off to Vote

OTTAWA, June 7.—(CP)—James Cawagawa, chief electoral officer, announced yesterday that the justice department had advised that while any elector is allowed two hours of work other than his own hour to vote in the Dominion election Monday, he is not entitled to time off if he regularly has two hours away from work during the time the polls are open—between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. local time.

The Election Act provides that an employer must "allow every elector in his employ at least two additional hours other than the noon hour for voting" and shall not make deductions from the elector's wages for such absence from work.

The ruling was requested of the justice department. It was learned, because in previous elections a number of disputes arose particularly by electors working on night shifts. They thought they should have two hours of work the same as workers on the day shift.

Quebec Workers In Demonstration At King Meeting
QUEBEC, June 7.—(CP)—A group of more than 100 men, the majority employees of Morton Engineering and Dry Dock Limited, staged a "sit down strike" Tuesday, paraded last night to the meeting addressed by Prime Minister King, with placards which read: "We want work in our shipyards in Quebec." The marchers were quiet and orderly.

Alphonse Lachet, local president of the Canadian Shipbuilders Union (C.S.U.), said that the strike was a firm belief in provincial autonomy and that "we are protesting the fact that there is less and less work in Quebec shipyards, while in other parts of the country there is an over-supply of contracts."

Mr. Bracken said his party wanted to see a re-constituted Canada, where the national unity has been broken by the galling of French-speaking Canadians. He wanted to see the nine provinces continue to discharge their constitutional functions and he wanted to see that they were financially equipped to do so. Some of them now were not so equipped.

HOUSE PRICE CEILING
A request was made to the Dominion government, in another resolution, to "immediately place a price ceiling on all buildings and land." It was passed "Returned servicemen and dependents of servicemen have been victimized by having to pay excessive prices for houses," it said.

HARM IS OFFSET
"Happily for the world, much of the harm that has been done by inconsistent politicians over the last 25 years has been offset by the gallantry of French-speaking Canadians. We know that they have shared with other Canadians the highest honors of the war."

sonner as the battle against Fascism won than we begin to rearms our enemies.

"What for? I leave you to supply the answer," he told an audience of nearly 2,000 in Winnipeg's Civic Auditorium.

He also condemned Canada's adherence to the administration of the "Fascist dictatorship of Argentina to the San Francisco conference of peace-making nations."

A Builder of Good-Will

President Truman a few days ago invited Prime Minister King to visit him in Washington. In doing so he used the following language:

"As I understand that it will not be possible for you to return to San Francisco, where I had hoped to have the opportunity of talking over various matters of mutual interest, I wonder if you would care to come to Washington in the near future. If so, it would be a great pleasure to welcome you at the White House, to know you so well, and to continue the informal talks which in the past have done so much toward creating the good-will and mutual understanding between our two countries."

Canada's relations with other countries have not been the platform of attention they deserve during the election campaign. That is one subject which the opponents of the Government have been careful to keep away from, and have done what they could to keep the public from thinking about.

"The warm friendship and close understanding" which exists between the United States is unique. The like exists between no two other countries in the world. The part that Mr. King has played in treating those relations with respect and as well known that his detractors do not even raise the question. They talk away from it, but they are not so well known that his detractors do not even raise the question. They talk away from it, but they are not so well known that his detractors do not even raise the question.

But neither does anyone raise the question of whether it is the part of wisdom to keep those relations on their present basis. That is to tell the truth, it is a challenge for Canada and for the world to be challenged. But it is something the electors should not allow themselves to forget. As an ambassador of good-will, King stands by himself among all the men who have held the premiership of Canada. President Truman approached him with an appreciation, as President Roosevelt had appreciated it.

To Fight Is To 'Appease'

At Vancouver Mr. Bracken argued that Mr. King is "appearing" the Quebec isolationists because of the fact that he is trying to defeat them, whereas Mr. Bracken was not "appearing" them because his party had put out only 27 candidates in the field against the 100 of the opposition.

By that line of reasoning the Allies put altogether too many men in the field against Hitler; whereas Mr. Bracken, by massing such strong forces on the battle front.

But that is not all. In 53 Quebec constituencies Mr. Bracken is appearing, is telling Conservative voters to vote for anti-British candidates, and is nominating the candidates opposite to the most venomous of the Nationalists.

So it seems the Allies made another mistake. According to this demonstration of Bracken strategy, the Allies have offered any resistance on sectors where the Storm Troopers were most ardent, and some other fronts should have been assigned non-Nazi Germans to support Dr. Fuehrer.

Mr. Bracken does not see civil service any such nonsense. He was not speaking politically when he argued that Mr. King is "appearing" the isolationists by trying to keep them out of parliament.

What "Socializing" Means

At Vancouver three weeks ago Mr. Coldwell said "The first step of a C.C.F. Government would be to socialize the financial institutions." At Ottawa a week later he identified those institutions as being the chartered banks and the insurance companies. At Montreal a few days ago he added that Canadian Pacific Railway was to be socialized, and went on to say that all industry would probably be socialized—depending on what the brain trust has in mind.

"Socializing" is an easy-sounding word, but it isn't of course as easy as it sounds. Reduced to practicalities, this little program means that Mr. Coldwell would spend many hundreds of millions of dollars to buy up these enterprises and put them in charge of a few great communists headed by his proposed communist, High Executive. Hundreds of millions which the taxpayers would have to dip out of their earnings, and then to pay over-tax-money or for the purchase of speculation bonds.

It seems to the point to ask, how many new jobs would be created by doing this? Pertinent because this matter of providing more jobs than there ever were before is something that we have to be realistic about, and the doing of which will cost "oodles" of public money, invested or spent one way and another. When Mr. Coldwell got through buying all these great concerns, the only new jobs created would be those of an bureaucracy.

Disappointing it may be to our political theorists, it seems fortunate to people with a realistic turn that there is no prospect of the taxpayers being foolish enough to turn their money into such a jobless spending spree. There are headaches enough in sight without adding hundreds of millions of socializing taxes and bond issues to the burdens we already have to bear and must undertake—just for the sake of taking these efficiently managed concerns out of the hands of their present owners and putting them in charge of inept politicians and trustees and vote-buying politicians.

The Terms of the Bargain

Mr. Bracken went back to Brandon last week, where twelve days before he had given out a statement regarding the thirty-three thousand dollars in cash and property in Quebec who are being supported by conservative campaign funds and the party organizer, Mr. Lafontaine.

In his statement Mr. Bracken had said that if those isolationist proteges "differ with us in certain matters—such as, for example, our manpower policy—that is their privilege." This was the plain meaning of this seemed to be that it was the "privilege" of the gentlemen in question to condemn and censure, and that their doing so in no way imperilled the support that had been promised them and is being given out on May 20th.

If there were expectations that on his return visit the leader would explain what he meant—if this was not the correct meaning—the expectations were disappointed. The explanation was a modification coming; and the statement has therefore to be taken to mean just what it seemed to mean when it was given out on May 20th.

Namely, that the basis of the coalition between the Conservative leader and the champions of isolationism was that the latter should protect the Canadian Empire, anti-war, anti-British doctrine in Quebec while Mr. Bracken posed as the No. 1 pro-British, pro-Canadian, pro-British champion in the English-speaking provinces.

This Is Not a Democracy Unless Everybody Votes

No Government Can Work Without Background of Faith

By HAROLD L. WEIR

The most vital feature of the democratic system is the stand-point of political health, was the return to power of any party or even the relative party standings but the fact that the popular vote is perhaps the largest in Ontario's history.

In a democracy the return of any party are the full function of the democratic machinery. The machinery of the democratic machinery is the full function of the democratic machinery.

We live in an enlightened age which has come to take a clear and objective view of democracy. Not so many years ago, the franchise was regarded as a high and even unique privilege. Today, through our objective view of democracy, we see that the franchise is more than a privilege. It is a solemn obligation, a sacred duty.

There are many ways in which the franchise is more than a privilege. It is a solemn obligation, a sacred duty. There are many ways in which the franchise is more than a privilege. It is a solemn obligation, a sacred duty.

For what is the difference in status, philosophically, between a man who is a totalitarian and a man who is a democrat? The difference is that the totalitarian believes in the will of the people and a prime minister who falls into power because of the failure of the people to exercise their franchise.

Candidates Face Question Barrage

At Youth Rally in Masonic Temple

More than 250 Edmonton young people, together with a strong representation of older generations, voted Wednesday night's youth rally at the Masonic Temple one of the liveliest meetings of the current Dominion election campaign.

Arranged by the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Edmonton Youth Council, the meeting heard ten-minute addresses from East and West Edmonton candidates, and then lowered barriers for a general question period.

The gathering maintained a generally good-humored atmosphere, although there were a few occasions when loud boos punctuated speakers' remarks.

NOISY RECEPTION

Noisier reception of the evening went to the Progressive Conservative candidate for East Edmonton, Lt. Col. H. B. Jamieson, M.P., whose answer to a youth who suggested the possibility of a future trade war "ending in bloody conflict" was "I don't know how to tell a young man, but I don't see any idea like that."

Other speakers on the platform were: Mary Crawford, CCF, West Edmonton; Ald. M. D. Anley, CCF, East Edmonton; Dr. Marjorie Hunter, Labor Progressive, West Edmonton; Mrs. C. A.
